

Iris Vineyards' owners Pamela Frye and Richard Boyles are native Oregonians. Both graduated from the University of Oregon in Eugene. After a decade living and working in Washington state, Germany and Switzerland they returned to Oregon to replant their roots and begin planning and developing their Oregon winery. Chalice Vineyard at Iris Hill was planted in 1996 marking the beginning of the Iris Vineyard venture. Pamela, Richard and their children Amalia and Drew live on their 870 acre family estate overlooking Iris Vineyards.

Iris Vineyard Estate, near Lorane, Oregon, is our cornerstone. We have embarked on a multi-year vineyard expansion program under the supervision of our talented Vineyard Manager, Arpad Walker. The cool climate in the foothills of the Oregon Coastal Range allows the grapes to mature slowly while maintaining the proper acid balance that is essential for producing the finest Pinot Noir, Pinot Gris and Chardonnay. We also entered into long-term relationships with some of Oregon's finest growers allowing us to increase production and meet the growing demand for our wines. Our new winery has a production capacity of 25,000 to 30,000 cases annually. The winery is designed for small lot, hands-on production necessary to produce the highest quality wines. Vintage 2008 will be the first in our new facility.
